

A POINTER
ON THE SIDE

It is not necessary to talk about everything at once to be a conversationalist. An intelligent hearer is usually an intelligent talker.

Don't display your ignorance by entering into a conversation when you are ignorant of the subject.

Real intelligence means that you should have more than one vocation to life. If you cannot work at your trade then do the nearest work your hands may find to do.

Idle hearts make idle minds and idle minds make idle hands.

COOK: It is well for you to ask about what you do not know, but it is annoying for you to ask the same question so many times. Wear your white slippers, dress and hat to music or for evening, but wear your black ties to church on Sundays.

EFFIE: If you don't care for the man don't pretend. From your description, I think he would make a model husband, especially since he thinks so much of his mother and owns his own home with a little resource to go upon. I am not in favor of my girls marrying for wealth. Two loving hearts once united, there will be sunshine all the way.

No gentleman would be guilty of asking a girl to become his bride, unless he can do a better part by her than she is doing for herself.

FASHION: The grass linsens are very becoming to many of the dark beauties, since the vogue is to wear pink, green, blue or violet as a lining, with ribbons to match.

LENA: The fault may no doubt be with yourself. If your husband looks after your needs what more can you expect. Take my advice and make yourself contented.

ESTELLE: The Woman's League and Federation are two distinct organizations. They are both striving for the same thing—leadership. Both should be abolished and one association organized.

E. M. Dr. Richardson is a lawyer as well as a physician and a man of powerful intellect. You should consult him about the aspect of your case.

J. M. Lawyer Hewlett is a bachelor and is likely to remain one. If you have law cases of the divorce or other character, he will discuss it with you.

M. H. W.: You need not tell all you know, nor is it right to discuss other people's affairs. A sensible girl will attend to her own business. Gossips are dangerous and should have no quarters.

HELEN: There were some good people among the Christian Endeavorers. All of them were not tainted with Christian prejudice. They are all buried when death comes. Six feet under ground they go. It is strange that some people, who profess religion are so narrow minded. Religion does not teach prejudice, nor does it say the Afro-Americans go one place and the white people another.

ESSIE: Flirtation among some married people is carried on to a great extent. No woman who respects her household will indulge in such. Women who carry on flirtations are not respected by sensible men.

LELIE: A loud laugh betrays a vacant mind. It is not necessary to be boisterous.

J. M. C.: There will be two district meetings of the Afro-American Women's Congress. One is now in session in the 15th St. Presbyterian Church and the other will be held in the 19th Street Baptist Church next week. It is to be regretted, but never the less it is true, they all want to be leaders. Women are, (I. e.) some of them are as ambitious as some men.

ELLEN: Let your tea be select. It makes no difference if your friend's friend is a stranger. Her standing at home will not warrant you to invite her to your tea. Your guest from the same place who knows her will be justified in leaving your house.
